MISS HUDSON LEADS IN PRODUCTION OF "SPOILERS"

Miss Laura Hudson, in the part of Cherry Melotte, the demimondaine in The Spoilers, at the Opera House last evening easily took the lead of the whole company in the production the whole company in the production of this famous play.

Cherry's part is not the leading one of the production but its condition to be properly done needs one with peculiar personal charms and temperament, and there Miss Hudson possesses. From the time of her first appearance in Struve's office through the scene in the dance hall of the Northern in the fourth act, where perhaps her best work was done, to the last act on the Midss property Christmas morning, she looked and acted the part and was the most natural one of the entire cast.

Miss Elliott as Heien Chaster, the

the entire cast.

Miss Elliott as Heien Chaster, the nicce of the Federal judge, gave the part well but she was not up to the standard set by Miss Hudson.

As to the men, Webb did not appear up to his usual form nor did any of the chaster.

the others with perhaps two excep-tions. Royal as Siap Jack Simms, the Swede foreman of the Midas, was the fun maker of the produltion with his dialect work, and Howe in the part of Wilson Strave, the inebriated district attorney, took the part to perfection. The scenic effects of the production were good and if the snow storm in the last act at the Midas had been more evenly distributed instead of coming down in large handfuls first upon one portion of the stage and then on another, the effect would have seen much better.

One of the largest andiences of the season greeted last evening's produc-tion and the next two nights should have larger houses to witness this
